Comment

The Faneata Tailings Facility (Vast 80% ownership) is the repository for the Baita Plai tailings, and can be processed through the Baita Plai processing plant. The Baita Plai plant is located 7km from the mine and Vast believes that the Faneata has the potential to be a standalone operation. We understand that no metallurgical test work has been conducted and the low grades suggest that recoveries will be low. The initial preliminary economic assessment has indicated that a recovery of 25% for economic breakeven. At an anticipated recovery of 36%, Faneata has the potential to deliver a 44% margin over a period of 16-20 months before capital expenditure is considered. Metallurgical test work is about to commence and a Feasibility Study is underway due for completion by the end of Q2 2017.

The positives regarding the Faneata deposit are that being tailings, they will be inexpensive to dig out and the processing facility is only 7km away. However, it was last operated around 5 years ago and will need some rehabilitation. The tailings were subjected to grinding and by feeding them through the existing grinding circuit we would anticipate a finer grind which polishes the surfaces and should give acceptable recoveries.

However, we will not be adding this to our model until the results of the Feasibility Study are known. If all goes according to plan, the biggest advantage to Vast could be environmental, as the tailings dam will be cleaned up.
